Research question: Alain Locke (The New Negro, 1925) saw a spiritual and cultural awakening. W.E.B. Du Bois ("Criteria of Negro Art," 1926) insisted "all Art is propaganda." Were they describing the same thing — or fundamentally different visions of what the Renaissance was for?

01 PART 1

Independent research

Use the library catalog and at least two sources to find evidence for both Locke's and Du Bois's positions. Record your sources using proper citation format:

Source 1: _____ Source 2: _____

Evidence for Locke's view: _____ Evidence for Du Bois's view: _____

02 PART 2

Your argument

Write a 5–6 sentence analytical paragraph: were Locke and Du Bois describing the same Renaissance, or did they have fundamentally different visions? Who do you think was closer to the truth — and why? Cite your evidence.

Extend

Find one Harlem Renaissance resource in the library that most students wouldn't find easily — a less obvious entry point. What is it, and why is it valuable?
